Cramming for success: study and academic work

A Study and exams

Before an exam, some students cram¹ for it. Even if you're a genius², you'll have to do some revision. If the exam happens every year, you can revise by looking at past papers³. Some things can be memorised or learnt (off) by heart. But rote-learning⁴ is not sufficient for most subjects. It is also possible to use mnemonics⁵. However, all things considered, the best idea is to bury yourself in your books⁶ and to study intensively⁷ until you know the subject inside out⁸.

¹ study in a very concentrated way for a short time

² an exceptionally clever person

³ exam papers from previous years

⁴ learning purely by repetition

⁵ /ni'mɒnɪks/ tricks that help you remember something, for example: 'i' before 'e' except after 'c' is a mnemonic for English spelling (e.g. friend, but receive)

⁶ spend the maximum time studying

⁷ in a very focused way

⁸ know it completely

B Academic writing

composition could be just 50–100 words, often used for school work essay longer than a composition, more serious, hundreds or thousands of words assignment a long essay, often part of a course, usually thousands of words project like an assignment, but emphasis on student's own material and topic portfolio a collection of individual pieces of work; may include drawings and other examples of creative work as well as writing dissertation a long, research-based work, perhaps 10–15,000 words, for a degree or diploma thesis a very long, original, research-based work, perhaps 80–100,000 words, for a higher degree (e.g. PhD)

It's a good idea to start with a mind map¹ when preparing an essay. Always write a first draft² before writing up the final version. Your essay should be all your own work; plagiarism³ is a very serious offence in colleges and universities. It is an increasing problem because it is so easy to cut and paste from materials available on the internet, and students have to sign a plagiarism form to say that the work they are handing in is all their own and that they acknowledge⁴ any sources they have used. There is usually a deadline⁵. After the essay is submitted⁶, it will be assessed⁷ and usually you can get feedback⁸.

¹ diagram that lays out ideas for a topic and how they are connected to one another ² first, rough version

³ /'plɛɪdʒərɪzəm/ using other people's work as if it was yours ⁴ give details of ⁵ date by which you must hand in the work ⁶ handed in; formal ⁷ evaluated and given a grade ⁸ comments from the teacher/tutor

C Aspects of higher academic study

² magazines with academic articles (we do not use the word magazine to talk about this kind of academic publication)

³ get hold of (it) on the internet

⁴ system where libraries exchange books/journals with one another

⁵ online materials that can be freely used by teachers and students anywhere ⁶ leave the course before the end ⁷ last exams before the end of a college or university course ⁸ with the right formal qualifications

Exercises

1.1 Correct the wrong usage of words to do with written work in these sentences.

- 1 His PhD assignment was 90,000 words long and was on the history of US place names.
- 2 Little Martha did her first dissertation in school today. It was called 'My family'.
- 3 We have to hand in an essay at the end of the course. It can consist of up to five different pieces of work.
- 4 The teacher gave us the title of this week's project today. We have to write 1,000 words on the topic of 'If I ruled the world' and hand it in next Monday.
- 5 At the end of this course, you have to do a 5,000-word thesis which will be assessed, and the grade will contribute to your final degree.
- 6 I think I'll do a study of people's personal banking habits for my MSc composition. It has to be about 12,000 words.
- 7 I've chosen to do the portfolio instead of the two exams, because I like to do one single piece of work where I can research something that interests me personally.

1.2 Rewrite this text using words and phrases from the opposite page instead of the underlined words.

When I'm studying in a very focused way because I'm preparing hard for an exam, I don't see any point in looking up exam papers from previous years, nor is there any point in just learning things by memory. I know some people develop very clever memory tricks to help them remember the material, but there's no real substitute for rereading and going over the term's work. It's a good idea to have some sort of diagram showing different ideas to organise your thoughts, and memory-learning is useful, but in a limited way. At the end of the day, you just have to read a huge amount until you feel you know the subject 100%.

1.3 Answer these questions.

- 1 What do we call the first attempt at writing something, e.g. an essay?
- 2 What word means 'the date by which you must do something'?
- 3 What word means 'using someone else's ideas as if they were yours'?
- 4 What are more formal words for 'to hand in' and for 'to mark'?
- 5 What phrasal verb do we use when someone doesn't complete their course?
- 6 What is another word for an academic article? Where can you read them?
- 7 What is the name of the system for getting books from other libraries?
- 8 What word means 'the comments you get back from the teacher about your work'?
- 9 What word can you use for a person who is extraordinarily intelligent?
- 10 What is a more formal way of saying 'do research'?

1.4 Choose the best word from the opposite page to complete these sentences.

- 1 If you quote an article in an essay, you must your source, giving details of author and title.
- 2 Open educational can be particularly useful for students who do not have easy access to a university library.
- 3 How much have you done for tomorrow's maths exam?
- 4 Don't forget to sign the form and hand it in with your dissertation.
- 5 Some people take a long time to find suitable work even though they are very
- 6 Orla has had a published in the British Medical Journal.
- 7 All students need a username and password to be able to journals online.
- 8 Caspar is bound to do well in his mechanics exam – he knows the subject out.

2 Education: debates and issues

A Opportunity and equality

All education systems may ultimately be judged in terms of equality of opportunity¹. This is often referred to in the debates over selective² versus comprehensive³ schooling⁴. The main issue is whether everyone has the same opportunities for educational achievement or whether elitism⁵ of one sort or another is inherent in⁶ the system.

League tables⁷ for schools and colleges may actually help unintentionally to perpetuate⁸ inequalities, while claiming to promote the raising of standards. Inevitably, league tables divide educational institutions into good and bad, success and failure, resulting in a two-tier system⁹, or at least that is how the public perceives¹⁰ it. The ability of better-off¹¹ parents and well-endowed¹² schools to push children towards the institutions at the top of the league may, in the long term, have the effect of depressing¹³ opportunity for the less well-off¹⁴ or for children from home environments that do not provide the push and motivation to excel¹⁵.

Financial support of different kinds can help to make educational opportunity more equal. There are, for example, scholarships¹⁶ or bursaries¹⁷ that make it possible for less privileged youngsters to afford tertiary¹⁸ education. Student loans¹⁹ allow undergraduates²⁰ to pay for their tuition fees²¹ and living expenses while they are studying. But few would claim that real equality of opportunity has been achieved.

¹ when everyone has the same chances

² pupils are chosen for entry, usually for academic reasons, though, in the case of some private schools, parents' ability to pay school fees may be a factor in selection

³ everyone enters without exams and education is free, paid for by the government

⁴ education received at school

⁵ when you favour a small, privileged group

⁶ existing as a basic part of something

⁷ lists of schools or colleges, from the best down to the worst, based on exam results and, sometimes, other criteria

⁸ make something continue

⁹ a system with two separate levels, one of which is better than the other

¹⁰ sees, considers

¹¹ richer

¹² receiving a lot of money in grants, gifts from rich people, etc. [= endowments]

¹³ reducing

¹⁴ poorer

¹⁵ achieve an excellent standard

¹⁶ money given to pay for studies, usually provided on the basis of academic merit

¹⁷ money given to pay for studies, usually provided on the basis of need

¹⁸ education at university or college level

¹⁹ money that students can borrow from a bank while studying and then pay back once they are in work

²⁰ students doing a first degree [postgraduates = students doing a further degree]

²¹ money paid to receive teaching

B Other debates and issues

Some people think we should return to an emphasis on the three Rs, the traditional, basic skills. [reading, writing and arithmetic]

Literacy and numeracy are skills no one can afford to be without. [the ability to read] [the ability to count / do basic maths]

Curriculum reform is often done for political reasons rather than for good educational ones.

[changes to what is covered in the national syllabus = plan of what is to be studied]

Nowadays, lifelong/continuing education is an issue, and creating opportunities for mature students is important. [education for all ages] [adult students older than the average student]

Special needs education is expensive because class sizes need to be small or one-to-one. [education for children who cannot learn in the normal way, because they have some disability] [one teacher and one pupil, not a group]

Children are unhappy at school if there is a lot of bullying. [threatening behaviour]

Some headteachers complain that getting to grips with constant new government guidelines on what schools should be doing is a distraction from what they ought to be focusing on. [advice (often official) on how something should be done] [takes attention away]

Language help

Notice how compound adjectives like well-off, well-endowed, high-achieving, badly-performing can be used in comparative and superlative forms, e.g. better-off, best-endowed, higher-achieving, worst-performing.

Exercises

2.1 Complete the collocations by filling in the missing words according to the meaning given in brackets.

- tables (lists of schools from best to worst)
- education (entry to schools is decided by exam results)
- equality of (when everyone has the same chances)
- inequalities (make inequalities continue)
- education (at university or college level)

2.2 Rewrite these sentences so they are more formal by using words and phrases from the opposite page instead of the underlined words. Make any other changes that are necessary.

- Inequality is built into the education system.
- Giving access only to privileged groups is bad for the country in the long term.
- Education where everyone gets into the same type of school without exams is a basic political ideal in many countries.
- A system where there are two levels of schools reduces the opportunities for children from poorer families and favours those from richer families.
- Some private schools have lots of wealth and receive gifts of money, and this means they can have better resources.
- All parents want their children to achieve the best possible results at school.
- Emphasis on the three Rs is considered by parents to be the key to success.
- The government is increasing its provision for education that young people can enter after finishing secondary school.

2.3 Correct these statements about words or expressions from the opposite page. Correct each of them twice – once by changing the definition and once by changing the word being defined.

- One-to-one education is another way of saying continuing education.
One-to-one education means a situation where there is one teacher and one student.
Lifelong education is another way of saying continuing education.
- Numeracy refers to the ability to read.
- A student who is doing a doctorate is an undergraduate.
- Excelling is when a pupil uses frightening or threatening behaviour towards another child who is smaller or less powerful in some way.
- Tertiary education is the stage that follows primary education.
- Comprehensive schools choose the best students to study there.
- Guidelines list schools from good to bad according to their exam results.

2.4 Complete each sentence with a word from the opposite page.

- Matt won a because of his excellent academic record.
- Zara's parents said that starting a rock band with her friends would be too much of a from her studies.
- The report contains some interesting on how best to prepare for exams.
- There were two students in my class at university, but most of us were just 19.
- Katia wouldn't have been able to go to university if her grandparents hadn't paid her tuition for her.
- Most undergraduates need to take out a student to cover their costs while they study for a degree.
- Primary schools usually spend a lot of time on the Rs.
- At university I was lucky enough to have a lot of tutorials, just me and the tutor!

4 Job interviews

A Preparing for interviews

When companies are recruiting¹, they often have a set of criteria² (e.g. three years of experience in the field, or a degree in a relevant area) which they use to find the most suitable candidates. If you are shortlisted³ for an interview, make sure you do your homework first: find out as much as you can about the company, its products, markets, competitors, etc. If you can, ask a friend to do a trial run⁴ with you. This will help boost⁵ your confidence. The interview may be conducted by a panel [a group of people], probably including your future line manager⁶. Don't forget to make eye contact with all the interviewers while you are talking. As you arrive for the interview, body language⁷ is important. Give a firm handshake and speak up⁸. This will help to create a good first impression.

¹ hiring (new staff) ² requirements you use to make a decision ³ selected from a larger group ⁴ a practice of something new ⁵ improve or increase ⁶ the person who is directly responsible for your work ⁷ physical movements which show how you are feeling ⁸ speak (more) loudly and clearly

B During an interview

These are examples of things that might be said at a job interview.

A: So, can you talk us through¹ your CV?

B: Well, I studied Engineering and then took a job as a trainee² at F3 Telecom.

A: I'd like to ask about opportunities for professional development³.

B: We have a very good in-house⁴ training programme for new recruits⁵.

Can you give us an example of how you've worked well under pressure?

How would your colleagues / your supervisor⁶ describe you?

I'm keen to take on⁷ more responsibility.

A: We're looking to fill the post⁸ fairly quickly. If you are successful, how soon could you start?

B: The notice period⁹ on my present job is just two weeks, so I could start very soon.

¹ tell us about in more detail ² a person who is learning a new job ³ training given to employees to increase their knowledge or skills ⁴ within the company ⁵ people who have just joined (the company) ⁶ the person who checks your work ⁷ start to have ⁸ find someone to do the job ⁹ time you need to work in your job after you have officially told the company you are leaving

5 At work: colleagues and routines

A Colleagues

Philip is my opposite number¹ in the company's New York office. We have a good working relationship² and there's a lot of day-to-day collaboration³. Having a counterpart⁴ like Philip in another branch is a great support. Last month we got a new boss, who quickly established a good rapport⁵ with everyone. She likes us to take the initiative⁶. The company is very hierarchical⁷; there's a pecking order⁸ for everything. I do a job-share⁹ with a woman called Rose, which suits us as we each have childcare responsibilities. My office uses a hot-desking¹⁰ system, so I sit in a different place every day. I socialise with my workmates¹¹ outside of work, but we try not to talk shop¹² on those occasions.

- ¹ has the same position / does the same job as me
² way of communicating and working together
³ working together to achieve shared goals
⁴ more formal equivalent of opposite number
⁵ /ræ'pɔː/ communication/relationship
⁶ make decisions without being told what to do
⁷ /,haɪə'rɑːkɪkəl/ has a structure with important and less important people
⁸ a system where some people have the right to get benefits/promotions before others
⁹ an agreement where two people each share the same job
¹⁰ a policy of sharing desks in an office, so people sit at whichever desk is free on a particular day ¹¹ colleagues you are friendly with (especially in non-professional occupations); informal ¹² talk about work; informal

B During the day (different work patterns)

I do fairly mundane¹ tasks. Occasionally I have to meet a deadline² or they need someone to volunteer³ for something. Then the job is more rewarding⁴ and stimulating⁵. Sometimes I have a heavy workload⁶ but at other times it can be quite light.

- ¹ ordinary, not interesting ² have something finished by a fixed day or time ³ offer to do something without being asked or told to do it ⁴ making you feel satisfied that you have done something important or useful, or done something well ⁵ encouraging new ideas or new thinking ⁶ amount of work I have to do

I start work at my machine at seven o'clock when I'm on the day shift. The job's mechanical¹ and repetitive². All I ever think about is knocking off³ at three o'clock. The shift I hate most is the night shift. I start at ten and work till six in the morning. It's a bit monotonous⁴. It's not a satisfying⁵ job – I feel I need something a bit more challenging⁶.

- ¹ you don't have to think about what you are doing ² the same thing is repeated every day
³ finishing work; informal ⁴ boring because it never changes ⁵ (does not) make me feel pleased by providing what I need or want ⁶ that tests my ability or determination

I have a pretty glamorous¹ job. I'm a pilot. But the hours are irregular and anti-social². I'm not stuck behind a desk³, but long-haul flights can be a bit mind-numbing⁴; most of the time the plane just flies itself. We work to very tight schedules⁵. But I shouldn't complain. I feel sorry for people who are stuck in a rut⁶ or who are in dead-end⁷ jobs.

- ¹ very exciting, which everyone admires ² do not enable one to have a normal social life ³ sitting at a desk all day; informal ⁴ extremely boring ⁵ very strict or severely limited timetables
⁶ stuck/trapped in a job they can't escape from ⁷ with no prospects of promotion

I started off as a technician¹. After retraining, I worked for a software company, and later I went in with² a friend and we formed our own software company as a start-up³ in 2009, so now I'm self-employed. My husband is freelance⁴: he works for several different companies as and when they need work done – he's a computer programmer⁵.

- ¹ person whose job involves practical work with scientific or electrical equipment ² formed a business partnership with ³ a small business that has just started ⁴ or works freelance ⁵ someone who writes computer programs
